Young Professionals Group to offer workplace communication workshop

DENVER – The Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce Young Professionals Group will host the Knowledge Workshop "Communication in the Workplace" presented by Karla Barry from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 17 at the CWCC Offices, 1624 Market St., Suite 340 in Denver.

The YPG Knowledge Workshop is for professional men and women ages 21 to 39 and costs $5 for members and $10 for non-members. Attendees can register online at www.cwcc.org.

During the workshop, Barry will discuss three areas of communication in the workplace:

- Understanding Communication Styles
- Electronic Communications in the Workplace
- Communication Compliance in the Workplace

Barry has over 15 years as a learning and development professional, managing learning and development teams in companies including: McGraw-Hill, Janus Mutual Funds, Nordstrom Bank, and Citigroup. Most recently, she served as Vice President of Learning and Performance Solutions for Citigroup in Denver.

She specializes in organizational development, communication training, generations in the workplace, customer service training, new hire and diversity training, and leadership training. Additionally, she is in the Advanced Program to become a certified personal/corporate coach with the International Coaches Federation. Barry serves on the Training Advisory Board for the University College at the University of Denver. She received her Master's of Applied Communication from the University of Denver in 2004.

The Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce Young Professionals Group is for professional men and women ages 21 to 39. The group's mission is to foster a community of young dynamic professionals to cultivate an environment of education, growth and balance.
